PROFILE

Being an open communicator, I am good at working with others. It is not hard for me to grow connections in an unfamiliar community or group. I am interested in tasks that challenge me and allow me to learn something new.

I am strongly motivated to grow into a leadership position and understand that leading by example is important. As the current Head of Finance and previous Head of Events for the Student Association at Zeppelin University, I am experiencing leadership and organizational tasks by coordinating and planning all student-driven events as well as orientation days for incoming students. As a previous member of the GESS Student Council and the Head of the Sports Committee I have also developed organizational and leadership skills. By recently founding HEADWORQ, a company providing IT and Graphic Design services, I am learning more about bringing up and leading a business every single day.
